

Could History Be So Stunningly Wrong?

TEMPLE

The background of the book cover is a photograph of ancient stone ruins. In the center, there is a prominent wall with a crenelated top edge, suggesting a fortification or a city wall. The ground in the foreground is uneven and appears to be a mix of dirt and stone. The sky is overcast with grey clouds. The overall tone is historical and mysterious.

ROBERT CORNUKE

An aerial photograph of the Temple Mount in Jerusalem. The Dome of the Rock is prominent in the upper left, with its golden dome and minaret. The surrounding area is a large, open plaza filled with many people, some walking and some standing in groups. The architecture is a mix of ancient stone walls and modern structures. The sky is clear and bright.

“Then Yeshua went out and departed from the temple, and His disciples came up to show Him the buildings of the temple. And Jesus said to them, “Do you not see all these things? Assuredly, I say to you, not one stone shall be left here upon another, that shall not be thrown down.””

Matthew 24:2

Josephus' Description of Destruction:

“NOW as soon as the army had no more people to slay or to plunder, because there remained none to be the objects of their fury, (for they would not have spared any, had there remained any other work to be done,) Caesar gave orders that they should now demolish the entire city and temple, but should leave as many of the towers standing as were of the greatest eminency; that is, Phasaelus, and Hippicus, and Mariamne; and so much of the wall as enclosed the city on the west side. This wall was spared, in order to afford a camp for such as were to lie in garrison, as were the towers also spared, in order to demonstrate to posterity what kind of city it was, and how well fortified, which the Roman valor had subdued; but for all the rest of the wall, it was so thoroughly laid even with the ground by those that dug it up to the foundation, that there was left nothing to make those that came thither believe it had ever been inhabited. This was the end which Jerusalem came to by the madness of those that were for innovations; a city otherwise of great magnificence, and of mighty fame among all mankind.”
